

Professor Ulla Hass and professor Anne Marie Vinggaard's inaugural lectures on endocrine disruptors

On Friday 12 October, from 1 pm - 2.45 pm, new professors at The National Food Institute, Technical University of Denmark, Ulla Hass and Anne Marie Vinggaard, are giving their inaugural lectures.

Ulla Hass and Anne Marie Vinggaard will talk about the background, status and prospects of their research into endocrine disruptors. Their research is aimed at acquiring more knowledge of the effects of these compounds and human exposure to combinations of them, as well as at developing methods for predicting the effects of combinations of endocrine disruptors, also known as cocktail effects.

The National Food Institute invites everyone to the lectures and the reception afterwards in Conference Room 1, Building 101A, 1st floor, Anker Engeldsvej 1, 2800 Kongens Lyngby. Registration is required at www.food.dtu.dk

Best regards,

Jørgen Schlundt, Director of Institute
National Food Institute, Technical University of Denmark

